Corenation of King Edward

Will Take Place August 15 and Will Be Simple and Lacking in Pomp.

LONDON, July 7,—From unofficial but usually trustworthy sources it is said that the coronation of King Edward has been provisionally scheduled for August 15. It will consist of only a procession from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Abbey and an abbreviated service there immediately afterward.

King Edward will undergo another operation, or, at least, a searching surgical examination. The primary cause of the ulcer yet remains undiscovered and it is feared the removal of the vermiform appendix may be necessary. The King desires his coronation to take place as soon as he shall become physically able. He is undoubtedly superstitiously influenced by the prophecies of misfortune and intends to disperse them by assuming the crown, whatever may happen afterward. This programme is naturally a contingent one,

There is a feeling among Londoners that it is an act of wisdom to crown the King as soon as possible. While it is believed, as the physicians have said, that there is no immediate danger of a fatal termination, yet the condition of the King's health is such as to cause general apprehension.

Insurance companies and hotel and boarding house keepers already have sustained their losses attendant upon the postponement of the coronation and the abandonment of the idea of a great pageant will not occasion much sorrow. The general feeling is that it would be unwise to undertake to carry out the programme originally planned.

In the House of Commons this afternoon A. J. Balfour, the Government leader, announced that an autumn session of Parliament would be necessary, beginning about the middle of October, and that the House would adjourn early in August.

Replying to a question on the schlect of the coronation stands, the First Commissioner of Works, A. Akers-Douglas, said it was not proposed to remove them, as it was hoped the stands would still be required for the purpose for which they were constructed.

In inaugurating the Raphael Nurses' Home of Guys Hospital this afternoon, the Prince of Wales said all would join him in expressing unbounded thankfulness to God for the merciturecovery of his dear father. They ned all been cheered and supported during the severe trial by the deep sympathy of the whole empire and they who had watched at the King's bedside realized how much was due to the eminent surgical and medical skill and to the highly trained and patient nursing of the King.

King Edward passed a favorable day and the verbal report given out tonight was that he was still doing well.

The use by the Prince of Wales of the word "recovery," when he referred to the King's progress this afternoon, is regarded in many quarters as indicating that the royal family considers the King's case most hopefully.

Queen Alexandra's teas to 10,000 domestic servants of London commenced to day. The local Mayors and officials presided at the various gatherings and many prominent ladies gave their assistance. Each one of the Queen's guests received gifts consisting of a box of chocolate and a silver gilt brooch. The proceedings were very enthusiastic.
